The participants of Common Foundation Courses undergo Vipassana course as part of their training. For this they are sent to other Vipassana Centres since the Vipassana course in YASHADA doesn't necessarily coincide with their tenure of stay here.

The caterer charges Rs. 120/- per participant per day for Vipassana Courses held in YASHADA which amounts to Rs. 1200/- per participant for 10 days' Vipassana course.

It is appropriate that at least amount of Rs. 1000/- per participant be offered to the NGO running Vipassana Centre as 'Dana' where these participants are sent for Vipassana course.

1) Context and Perspective

Innovations are always a rarity, be it science, technology, culture or public administration and governance. Yet, innovations are primarily responsible for fundamental and lasting transformations in these and various other spheres of human existence. Every innovation is therefore precious.

The essence of ‘innovativeness’ in any innovation is highly contextual. Hence, there cannot be one universal measure to define what constitutes an innovation. Often, a high level of social sensitivity is required in seeing the innovativeness in what might otherwise appear as an ordinary act. A contextually sensitive and appropriate Definition of innovation is thus the foremost requirement to ensure that every meaningful innovation gets identified.

It is essential to capture and preserve every constructive and meaningful innovation through appropriate means of Documentation.

According to Alfred Louse Kroeber – a famous anthropologist – diffusion of innovations is perhaps as important as innovations themselves. Anthropological research clearly establishes the fact that a uniform evolution and spread of human culture across the globe is primarily due to an extensive diffusion of innovations from a few epicenters, and not so much due to simultaneous, parallel innovations in different regions and cultures. Every documented innovation therefore needs to be diffused and propagated through suitable means of Dissemination.

The actual incident of an innovation remains a probability, however, the conditions and circumstances underlying an innovation can be systematically analyzed. Based on such analysis, systematic efforts can be made towards Replication of innovations through creation of conducive circumstances and environments. The documentation of innovations hence needs to be highly analytical and critical so as to precise identify the conditions and parameters for their replication.

Often innovations are short-lived. The sustainability of any innovation depends on its ability to stand the test of time and change. Innovations need to be integrated with an existing situation through creation of support mechanisms, be it knowledge, attitudes, practices, policies, etc., so as to ensure their true and complete Institutionalization.

In the modern industrial world, innovations have often been triggered and driven by the forces of economy and markets. In the era of liberalization, privatization and globalization, the market-driven innovations have gained evermore strength, and are rapidly transforming the public life and systems. Hitherto State-owned public systems are being progressively privatized. Impact of modern market-forces is evident on public infrastructure, professions, life-styles, and so on. However, there is one area wherein market forces are never likely to venture, i.e., the welfare of deprived and vulnerable. In fact, every research shows that market forces tend to further marginalize those already marginalized. Hence, a major focus of future social innovations needs to be on those who are likely to go unnoticed and unheard in the race for economic development and prosperity. Appropriate Socialization of innovations is therefore crucial to achieving the desired social impact. Innovations, which are not tuned to the greatest common good of the greatest numbers is bound to turn counter-productive in the long run.

Innovations and their dissemination is therefore a crucial strategy for propagating better public administration and governance. YASHADA being the apex training and research agency of the State Government, and being an active platform for public policy review and advise, it is apt for YASHADA to activate an institutional mechanism for documentation, dissemination, replication and overall promotion of relevant and meaningful innovations in the public sphere.

2. Policy Directives

In the above perspective, a Centre for Innovation & Dissemination (CID) has already been setup in YASHADA to promote innovative ways of tackling the public matters and issues. However, the Centre now needs to be rejuvenated and strengthened. For this purpose, the following policy directives are hereby issued with immediate effect.

a) Merger of CID with the Research & Documentation Centre

1) CID is hereby merged with the Research & Documentation Centre in view of the fact that documentation and dissemination of innovations is primarily a research-based activity.

2) CID will be headed by a Director who will build a suitable team of competent professionals to carry out the activities of the Centre.

3) Director, CID and his team will work under the overall guidance of DDG (R).

b) Operational Strategy

1) CID will endeavor to promote meaningful and constructive innovations of significance to public life through facilitating conducive environments for their occurrence, and through their documentation, dissemination, replication, and institutionalization.

2) CID will adopt a multi-strategic and multi-stakeholder approach to achieve its mandate, including integration of research, field-based action, training / capacity building, advocacy, facilitation / coordination, etc.

3) CID will strive for convergence of innovative efforts of government agencies, NGOs, civil society actors, communities, international agencies, and so on, towards evolving a comprehensive framework of innovative strategies on public issues.

4) Similarly, CID will seek and facilitate convergence of various wings and activities of YASHADA so as to tap every potential opportunity of promoting innovations.

5) CID will extensively make use of various means of dissemination such as publications, website, media programmes, hand-outs and booklets, workshops / conferences, etc., so as to propagate innovations.

6) CID will place a special emphasis on social innovations for welfare of the marginalized sections of society, which generally remain out of reach of the large-scale technological and economic innovations.

C) Advisory Committee

In order to achieve meaningful convergence of innovative efforts of various stakeholders, CID will form an Advisory Committee consisting of representatives of governments, NGOs, civil society, etc. The Advisory Committee will meet quarterly to discuss how various isolated efforts of innovations could be linked together effectively.

D) Financial Support

To begin with, the establishment and activities of CID will be supported from YASHADA funds. However, the Director, CID, will strive to make the Centre financially self-sustaining through undertaking externally sponsored research / training and such other suitable activities.

(Director General)
I. Introduction:

Background:
Disability has been a social welfare issue for a very long time. It was characterized by an attitude of charity. It was based on the feeling of pity towards disabled people. The approach was that able-bodied people were capable of solving the problems of disabled people. However, in reality, neither did it solve any problems nor did it contribute in ameliorating their situation.

The first comprehensive headcount of persons with disabilities was undertaken during the census 2001. It states that there are about 22 million people with disabilities in India, which puts the disability rate close to 2.13%; to many it is gross underestimation. However, even 22 million is not a small number, especially keeping in mind the fact that such a huge population is deprived of basic human rights and services.

Status:
Being proactive, Govt. of India has come up with legislations in the last decade.
- Rehabilitation Council Act, 1992, to monitors standards and undertakes related issues for manpower working in the field of disability rehabilitation.
- Persons with Disabilities Act, 1995 offers the protection of rights, equal opportunities and full participation to persons with disabilities.
- The National Trust act, 2000 to uphold the rights, promote development and safeguard the interests of persons with autism, cerebral palsy, mental retardation and multiple disabilities and their family members.
- The Govt. of India does offer various schemes & facilities for the persons with disabilities for their upliftment and so do the State Governments including Government of Maharashtra.

Thus on papers, things are quite satisfactory compared to many countries in the world. But in reality, the implementation of all these acts is far from satisfactory due to various reasons. The awareness regarding the various schemes and facilities provided by the Central and State Govt. is not impressive at all. Ignorance, misconceptions and stereotypes regarding disability continue to exist. The delivery of basic services such as health, education employment is still a distant dream for persons with disabilities. A lot more needs to be done to convert the promises on paper into ground realities. There are miles to go before people with disabilities in India receive equal opportunities, protection of rights and full participation.

It is evident therefore, that disability rehabilitation requires strong policy advocacy in addition to other effective interventions in order to impact critical governance issues and to increase positive participation of the civil society. Awareness creation, information dissemination, capacity building and active participation of various stakeholders would lead to achievement of the goal of... inclusion of disabled people into mainstream society. YASHADA, to prioritize the issue of disability rehabilitation & strives to mainstream persons with disabilities in the society, therefore has positioned Disability Rehabilitation as training and research intervention through establishment of ‘Resource Center for Disability Rehabilitation’ (RCDR)

II. Objectives

The objectives of the Resource Center for Disability rehabilitation are as mentioned below-
1. Capacity Building of the stakeholders
2. Support research activities
3. Providing platform for interaction through Resource Center
4. Making YASHADA as a role model in Disability Rehabilitation by providing barrier free environment.

III. Plan of Action:

Plan of action for the Resource Center for Disability Rehabilitation is as mentioned below-
1. Organizing training programs and workshops on various relevant topics in Disability Rehabilitation Training and capacity building of disabled people, their families, Govt offices, NGOs, media etc. would pave way to creation of awareness and to enhance the empowerment process. In addition it is equally important to build capacity of all the other stakeholders in the field of disability in order to create a vision of a just and inclusive society of tomorrow.
   Certain topics were selected for training programs as well as workshops.

2. Undertaking action research on important issues in Disability Rehabilitation:
   - Study of adolescent disabled girls
   - Networking among the NGOs working in the field of disability rehabilitation.

3. Establishing a Resource Center for Disability Rehabilitation:
   This center aims to address the dire need of much required yet rarely available comprehensive information dissemination center with all relevant information giving the status of disability rehabilitation in Maharashtra state. It would be much more than library. It would also display various artifacts made by disabled artists for exhibition cum sale purposes. The process has already begun.

4. Preparation of Manual on Disability Rehabilitation:
   Providing much needed information regarding various aspects of disability rehabilitation so as to help create awareness, eradicate misconceptions, bring forth success stories with an ultimately aim to build a positive attitude of all stakeholders related to disability rehabilitation.
   With the contributions from the disabled people and their family members, various experts in the disability rehabilitation field and other relevant people from Govt., Public and Corporate sector and civil society, this manual is ready in a draft format

5. Working towards Barrier free environment for persons with disabilities:
   The Resource center has been envisaged as a model building with barrier free design so as to provide easy access to persons with disabilities. It is also planned that gradually the entire YASHADA complex would be converted into Barrier free zone for persons with disabilities. It would include disabled friendly ramps, bars, Toilets, public telephone booths, eating outlets etc. gradually the effort would spread to the other departments at YASHADA so as to make YASHADA a model.

Vide Government Resolution No. घवणॉ-१०९९/प्र.क्र.२/९९/विनिमय, मंत्रालय, मुंबई dated 8 July 1999, YASHADA employees are eligible to receive the House Building Advance.

Extract of approved Agenda Notes of 22nd BoG held on 3 May 1997

Agenda Item No. BoG:XXII:09 (A)
Provision for House Building Advance for YASHADA employees

At present, there is no provision for House Building Advance for YASHADA employees and Government grants are also not made available to the Academy for this purpose. There is a pressing demand from the YASHADA employees for house building advance, which they are presently deprived of.

The Board, in its XIX meeting held on 24 December 1994, has approved the creation of a Corpus Fund for YASHADA and utilization of the interest earned on the Corpus for, inter alia, the welfare of the Academy’s employees.

Since House Building Advance could be defined as a welfare measure, the Board is requested to approve this facility for YASHADA employees subject to the following conditions:

(a) Yearly interest earned on the Corpus Fund would be utilized for this purpose as under:
   i. H.B.A. – 50% of the interest earned ii. Vehicle Loan – 25% of the interest earned
   iii. Welfare of the YASHADA Employee – 25% of the interest earned Utilization of corpus funds and/or interest derived thereupon is a matter of decision by the Director General by keeping the EC and BoGs informed in the event that the amount does not exceed in permissible limits as and whenever proposed earlier. The use of 25% share of interest on corpus fund meant for welfare is being utilized for the purpose of availment of advance for HBA and/or Vehicle Advance.

It is now proposed as follows:

(a) Loan advance for purchase of personal computers by YASHADA employees for use at their residence should be permitted by recognition as “Welfare of the YASHADA employees”.

(b) Considering the need to provide this loan amongst from the interest derived from the corpus and the need to provide the loan advances within the purview of welfare of YASHADA employees, it is now approved that a lump sum amount of Rs. 25,000/- may be provided upon approval of the request for loan by YASHADA employees.

(c) It is further approved that the said loan amount may be recovered within a period of three years.

(d) It is further approved that there should be no limit to the number of employees who might avail this loan facility at YASHADA and this may therefore be sanctioned to permanent employees only considering the fact that the duration of the loan is up to three years.

(e) Necessary procedures for verification and ratification of actual purchase of computer may be determined by Administration and Accounts.

So ordered.

Background

Equality is one of the fundamental rights established by the Constitution of India. Gender equality is an important manifestation of the equality in general. Several legal and policy measures have been taken by the Government since Independence to facilitate equal rights of women in all walks of social life. There is even a separate quota for women in important public positions, both elected and appointed. Apex statutory bodies for women such as the National and State Commissions for Women have been monitoring the status of women in the society. However the present scenario of women’s participation in social life and national development leaves much to be desired.

The studies across the world show that this gap between policy and practice is on account of a lack of grassroots level empowerment of women through various social and participative measures. Adequate empowerment of women in the India society has not taken place since independence. Violence and discrimination are obstacles in the empowerment process among the women particularly from the weaker sections.

However, in recent times various avenues of women’s empowerment through Self Help Groups (SHGs) as the nodal enabling institution have been experimented successfully. Through SHG movement, women are now confidently venturing into co-operative finance, cluster development, legal aid and services, social development initiatives and so on. However, it is necessary to now consolidate these isolated efforts into a systematic social movement for women’s empowerment. Such an endeavor would require an integrated approach combining training, capacity building, social mobilization, awareness building and grassroots level facilitation and coordination.

YASHADA being a policy platform for the State of Maharashtra, it has been decided to set-up a Centre for Women’s Empowerment at YASHADA. Various wings of YASHADA have already been actively involved in training, research and capacity building towards women’s empowerment. The Centre for Women’s Empowerment will help in integrating these efforts into a coherent strategy for women’s empowerment.

Policy Directives

1) A Centre for Women’s Empowerment is hereby established in YASHADA.

2) The Centre will have the following Objectives.

- To comprehensively assess the scenario of women’s participation in social life and development, and to critically identify the gaps, bottle necks and issues in women’s development and empowerment.
- To suggest more effective policies of women’s empowerment such as gender budgeting, gender audit, guidelines for mainstreaming gender concerns, checklists for planners, officials and legislators, etc.
- To identify needs and avenues of women’s empowerment so as to facilitate their equal participation in social life and development.
- To undertake concrete measures for women empowerment integrating the strategies of training, capacity building, mobilization, awareness building, focused interventions and field-based coordination.
- To comprehensively document and assess the impact of such measures on the women and the society at large through systematic action research. In fact most of the initiative of the centre will be carried out in an action research framework so as to facilitate a learning process in women’s empowerment.
- To create a repository of knowledge on women’s empowerment through documentation and action research, and to proactively disseminate such knowledge through mass media.
• To facilitate replication and scaling-up of exemplary initiatives and good practices in women's empowerment through the above initiatives towards building up of a systematic social movement for women’s empowerment.

3) In view of the fact that most activities of the Centre will be in the form of action research involving training, capacity building, ground level interventions, etc., the Centre is hereby attached to the Research and Documentation Centre of YASHADA and will function under an overall supervision of Deputy Director General (Research).

4) The Centre will have in house team as follows.
   a. Director
   b. Senior Consultant
   c. Coordinator
   d. Research Officer
   e. Research Assistant / Training Assistant (2)
   f. Support Staff as needed for administrative work

Suitable persons will be hired for the above positions on contract basis.

5) The centre will have an Advisory Committee to guide its activities. The Advisory Committee will consist of well-known experts in the field of gender empowerment. The Advisory Committee will be headed by the Director General, YASHADA and will consist of Deputy Director General (Research), Director, Centre for Women’s Empowerment and Additional Director (Research) as YASHADA representatives besides the known experts invited from the society.

6) The activities of the centre will be initially supported from YASHADA resources, however, the Centre will strive for self-reliance through sponsored projects, sponsored training and such other sponsored activities.

Background

Over the last few years YASHADA has emerged from merely being an administrative training institute to a policy advocacy platform for taking up major public issues through research, capacity building, handholding support, multi-stakeholder dialogue, and so on. In this new role, YASHADA has now been consciously professing and propagating certain paradigm shifts in governance such as community empowerment, bottom-up development, convergent public policy and programming, etc. These new frontiers of YASHADA’s endeavors are essentially inter-disciplinary and cross-sectoral in nature. YASHADA has been keenly trying to inculcate these new approaches among its trainees. However, it is increasingly felt that unlike its traditional sectoral training, these new convergent paradigms demand a more intensive process of educating the trainees so as to facilitate a fundamental shift in their whole approach and attitude to the issues in question.

The Chief Secretary in his capacity as the Chairperson of YASHADA’s Board of Governors has directed YASHADA to consider more sustained ways of educating the trainees in the newer paradigms of development administration through long-duration academic programmes. The Executive Committee (EC) of YASHADA has also recently taken keen interest in this matter and suggested that a separate academic wing may be established in YASHADA to develop and run long-duration academic programmes. BoG and EC have thus clearly set a mandate for YASHADA to work towards the status of a deemed university.

With this realization, YASHADA has been working towards Post-graduate Diploma Programmes. In addition to the benefit of more sustained interaction with trainees, the long-duration academic programmes like a Diploma would also facilitate access to broader clientele including post-graduate students and NGO functionaries besides government officers. Already Diploma Programmes have been evolved in Urban Management, Rural Management, Child Labor, Disaster Management, etc. Recognition and affiliation of the Universities of Mumbai and Pune is being sought to these programme.

In view of these initiatives, and the directives of BoG and EC to set up a dedicated wing within YASHADA to coordinate and oversee various long-duration academic programmes to be offered through YASHADA. In addition to Diploma programmes, it has been planned to gradually offer full-scale Degree Programmes in applied development studies. It is envisioned that through these academic programmes YASHADA would emerge as a unique University dedicated to applied studies in development, governance and public policy.

Policy Directives

1) An ‘Interdisciplinary School for Applied Development Studies (ISADS)’ is hereby established at YASHADA with immediate effect.

2) ISADS will pursue the following objectives.
   a. To develop long duration academic programmes such as the Certificate / Diploma / Degree Programmes on applied development themes in coordination with concerned wings of YASHADA and other agencies;
   b. To facilitate syllabus development, university recognition / affiliation, faculty identification, and such other aspects of development of new academic programmes;
   c. To coordinate and supervise the execution of academic programmes with a special view to maintain high standards of learning, and proper conduct of examinations / assessment procedures;
   d. To network with universities, research organizations, ATI s and such other agencies to explore the possibilities of academic exchange and mutual enrichment of programmes;
   e. To explore and harness synergy of academic programmes with training and research activities of YASHADA;
   f. To work towards gradually establishing YASHADA as a University through the above initiatives and measures.

3) The Deputy Director General (Research) will be the Chairperson of ISADS.

4) ISADS will have an apex Advisory Committee with the following constitution.
   a. Director General, YASHADA, as Chairperson;
   b. Additional Director General, YASHADA, as Vice Chairperson;
   c. Deputy Director General (Research), YASHADA, as Member Convener;
   d. A Deputy Director General, YASHADA, nominated by the Director General as Member
   e. Vice Chancellors of the Universities of Pune and Mumbai, or the persons nominated by them, as Members
   f. Persons of the rank of Vice Chancellor from Deemed / Open Universities nominated by the Director General as Members (up to 2)
   g. Subject experts as nominated by the Director General as Members (up to 3)

5) Under the overall supervision of Advisory Committee there will be Academic Committees for each academic programme as follows.
   a. Deputy Director General (Research), YASHADA as Chairman
   b. Deputy Director General / Director of the concerned wing of YASHADA as Vice Chairman;
c. Programme Director / Coordinator nominated by the concerned Deputy Director General / Director as a Member;
d. Dean of Faculty of Mental, Moral & Social Sciences, University of Pune or the concerned university as a Member;
e. Chairman, concerned Board of Studies, University of Pune or the concerned university as a Member;
f. Acclaimed expert(s) in the concerned discipline / field as a Member;

5) The Academic Committee may constitute separate sub-committees to deliberate on each academic programme, as felt necessary.

6) The Academic Committee may invite any faculty / officer of YASHADA as a Special Invitee to deliberate on certain academic, administrative, financial or logistic issues associated with conduct of academic programmes at YASHADA.

7) ISADS will have a secretariat consisting of the following contract staff along with the necessary office infrastructure.
   a. Academic Officer (at the level of Research Officer of YASHADA)
   b. Secretary cum Steno
   c. Peon / General Attendant

8) All wings / units of YASHADA desirous of initiating an academic programme will submit an initial proposal to ISADS requesting for activating the Academic Committee / sub-committee for scrutiny and further processing of the proposal.

9) Initially, the ISADS Secretariate and activities will be supported from YASHADA resources. However, gradually a reasonable proportion of revenue generated from academic programmes will be utilized to meet the costs of ISADS. The Academic Committee will propose the modalities for this purpose for approval of the Director General.

(Director General)
Due to sudden and rapid growth in the activities during past few years, the Academy has formulated certain norms for offering incentives to high performing individuals or teams. The some of the activities performed by the Publications Cell have also grown manifold. Where as availability of staff has remained almost same.

Hence, it was felt that there is a need to formulate norms for offering the incentive to staff of Publications Cell. (Also, it was resolved in the Faculty and Think Tank Meeting on 22/03/2007 that such norms should be formulated).

Also, it is observed that there is tremendous growth in the activities related to sale of books and procurement of subscriptions for the Academy’s Quarterly Journals. Also, it would be easier to quantify in terms of amount received from sale the additional works performed in this relation. (A profit of more than 30% is earned from the sale of books).

Hence, It is decided that if the Publications Cell is able to accomplish aggregate 100% targets for all the other core activities including Publishing of Journals, Books, Booklets and News Paper Articles / News Items and organising TV & Radio Programmes then the Cell should be offered incentive for the amount received from sale of books and procurement of subscriptions for journals as per the norms as described below :

1. The amount of annual incentive offered would be 7% of the difference between total amount received from sale and subscriptions and the targeted amount for these activities as prescribed in MIS Indicator.
2. The Accounts Officer is authorised to verify the calculated amount of incentive from records of deposits made by the Cell every year.
3. The amount of incentive would be deposited in the name of the Assistant Professor and Officer Incharge of the Publications Cell, who would be authorised to distribute as per his / her judgement the incentive amount to the concerned staff members of the Cell, keeping in view their contribution to the activities of the Cell.
4. A committee consisting of Head, YMRC / Publications Cell / Assistant Professor and Officer Incharge, Publications Cell and Registrar / Assistant Registrar and Accounts Officer may check / verify the claims made by the Publications Cell in regard to MIS and the Incentive amount.

| Reference              | 1. Minutes of 55th Meeting of Executive Committee held on 20 July 2007
| Circulated for information to | All Faculty and staff of YASHADA |
| Effective Date         | September 18, 2007 |

01. It has been recognized within the Academy during various discussions of the Faculty and during discussion in the 55th Meeting of Executive Committee, YASHADA held on 20 July 2007 that it would be essential to strengthen the Centre for Equity and Social Justice (CESJ) at YASHADA through convergence of additional thematic sectors and thereby integrate all similar subject-area training activities within a common Centre.

02. The Centre for Equity and Social Justice (CESJ) was established vide approved minutes of the 32nd Meeting of the Board of Governors of YASHADA held on 22 January 2004. Policy Circular No. 32nd BoG /2004 /P&P /Action /PC /02 dated February 12, 2004 was issued accordingly.

03. The CESJ was later restructured to ensure convergence of various thematic sectors vide Policy Circular No. PPI-PC /2007-7 dated March 30, 2007. The 54th meeting of the Executive Committee held on April 5, 2007 approved the Policy Circular.

04. The Policy Circular mentioned the following significant aspects – o Two major Work Areas were identified – 1. Social Justice, and 2. Social Development.

  o Among the various objectives identified, the key ones include –

    (a) To develop Resource Centres for Social Justice, Human Rights, Social Development, Women Empowerment and Social Harmony

    (b) To prepare Human Development Reports and Social Justice Reports

    (c) Coordinate working with institutes and organizations working in the areas of Equity and Social Justice

  o CESJ would focus its activities in work areas, such as – 1. Social Justice, 2. Social Development, 3. Human Rights, 4. Women’s Empowerment and 5. Social Harmony.

  o Work Output of Faculty at CESJ has been specified in detail and quantified.
05. Since 2003, it is noticed that several subject specific thematic areas have been identified as focus areas, and policy circulars issued for establishment of Centres /Cells /Units. Some such academic units have similar thematic areas, while some have also been separately established. It is therefore essential that certain key sectors, such as Equity and Social Justice, are able to enable convergence of all such thematic sectors.

06. Various other Centres /Cells /Units have also been established from time to time. Some are operational, while some are non-starters, and others are yet to be fully functional.

(a) Institute for Productive and Empowered Old Age (IPEOA) vide approved Minutes of the 32nd Board of Governors held on 22 January 2004 and Policy Circular No. 32nd BoG /2004 /P&P /Action /PC /03. Policy Circular No. PC /2003-04 /IOA /004 dated June 10, 2004 was issued later to include amendments.

(b) Centre for Tribal Development, Training and Research vide approved Minutes of the 33rd Board of Governors held on August 27, 2004 and Policy Circular No. PC /2004-05 /CTDTR /004 dated August 18, 2004.

(c) Centre for Women and Child Development, Training and Research vide approved Minutes of the 33rd Board of Governors held on August 27, 2004 and Policy Circular No. PC /2004-05 /CWCWTR /004 dated August 18, 2004.

(e) Centre for Women’s Empowerment vide Policy Circular No. PPI-PC /2007-12 dated 23 May 2007.

07. During discussion in the 55th meeting of the Executive Committee held on 20 July 2007, it was proposed to integrate all institutional initiatives regarding equity, such as caste, community, age, gender and ability within a holistic center for equity and social empowerment. The holistic center is now renamed as Center for Equity, Justice and Empowerment (CEJE).

08. It was therefore decided during discussion in the 55th meeting of the Executive Committee to withdraw certain policy circulars to enable the convergence of related thematic sectors to strengthen the Centre for Equity and Social Justice. The following policy circulars stand withdrawn:

(a) Resource Center for Disability Rehabilitation – Policy Circular stands withdrawn. The Center is now merged with the Center for Equity, Justice and Empowerment.

(b) Centre for Women’s Empowerment – Policy Circular stands withdrawn. The Center is now merged with the Center for Equity, Justice and Empowerment.

09. The following Centres /Cells /Units are also now merged with the Center for Equity, Justice and Empowerment (CEJE):
